

PRIVA OFFICE

The Priva Office operating program takes horticultural automation to a different level and makes operating your Priva process computer child's play. A well-organized and intuitive graphical interface makes for ease of use and operational clarity, which means a seamless step up to more efficient business operations.

- > Ease of use and operational clarity
- > Step up to more efficient business operations
- > Saves time
- > Reduces risk of errors

Advanced horticultural automation

Priva Office can be set entirely according to your preferences and company situation. In addition to being able to monitor your processes, the program enables you to adjust your processes as necessary, including the option to enter manual notes. If an alarm screen is displayed, for example, it may also display your own notes made for a previous, similar error.

You can adjust the greenhouse temperature displayed the in Priva Office graph by making a simple mouse movement to the desired temperature curve. The settings of all preferred ventilation and heating controls are automatically adjusted. Priva Office helps to save you time, memorizes your changes and reduces the risk of errors.

Information in a way that suits you

Whatever you cultivate and whichever stage your crops are in, you can always find and influence the information that you need using Priva Office. The Priva Office dashboards allow you to display the processes schematically in different ways; providing you with more straightforward overviews of and insights into your business processes. This means that you can choose which screens to combine and how these are displayed, and so allow yourself to compare measurements with settings and calculations, easily and at a glance. Priva or your dealer can tailor this dashboard to your own personal preferences.

With Priva Office, exporting and e-mailing data is as easy as it gets, and a range of reports can also be prepared concerning crops, seasons, climate, energy consumption, growing lights, production, locations etc.

With Priva Office you will always have exactly the information that you require for your company and crops, wherever you are.

RELATED PRODUCTS

Priva Connex

Priva Compact

Priva Alarms App
